Thinks Girls' Tight Clothes Invite Trouble

ENGLEWOOD, N. J. (A) - Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W Calissi has warned that girls in "tight pants and tight sweaters" are asking for trouble. Calissi told a meeting of the Englewood Rotary Club yesterday that girls who hang around ice cream parlors late at night are at the mercy of men who are mentally ill. He stressed the need for parents to reconsider the training of growing children.

Two 15-year-old girls have recently been killed in sex attacks in the county.

After clearing preliminaries yesterday, the House today begins four days of formal debate on the measure. Then will come the crucial tests when the bill will be open to amendment.

French Premier Talks Of Chances to Form Different Government

PARIS A-Another prospective French premier, Maurice Bourges - Maunoury, began consultaions with other parliamentary leaders today about his chances of forming a new government.

Bourges-Maunoury, 42-year-old Radical Socialist and defense minister in Socialist Premier Guy Mollet's outgoing government, took on the task after Pierre Pflimlin failed to rally sufficient support among France's diverse political parties.

The new candidate's first step was to confer with Mollet in a bid for Socialist cooperation. As a member of Mollet's coalition, Bourges-Maunoury probably can count on Socialist backing. But if he adopts Mollet's plan to increase taxes-most pressing government-he also may run afoul of the conservatives.

Health awards have been discontinued as it is felt that they have served the purpose for which they were intended.

Seven areas of screening exist in the program. They are vision testing, dental health, hearing, throat inspections, immunization, tuberculosis control and communicable disease control.

In the vision testing program the first grades were given the Snellen E chart or the telebinocular test, Grades four and seven used only the telebinocular test. The total number of students tested was 1,524. These, and all other figures, includes all grade schools: Broadway, Jefferson, Horace Mann, Whittier, Hubbard, Mark Twain and Washington. Out of the 1,524 tested, 232 failed, 31 were questionable, 86 were corrected this year, and 192 had been previously corrected. This shows a 37 p cent correction of faulty vision this year, and an almost 100 per cent total correction.

Although dental health remains one of the largest problems of childhood, great improvement has been shown in this area in recent years. Of those 1,524 children inspected, 517 were obviously defective, partial correction was administered to 79, and total correction was found in 505. Here is indicated a 97 per cent total correction of all who were defective.

Most children inspected were given a hearing test with the audiometer. Due to some unfavorable conditions not all who failed the test actually have serious defects. Many possible had a respiratory defect at the time of testing. Those, ho Mrs. Murrell felt reasonably

Many compromises between the outdoor advertisers and advocates beauty and safety have been dropped into the congressional hopper, but the one most likely to be adopted was offered by Senator Albert Gore (D. Tenn.) and is a teaser to make states willing to cooperate in controlling the billboard menace to safe driving and scenic beauty. It's been approved by a Senate Public Works sub-

This appeal is backed with hard cash. Any co-operating state would be paid 90% percent of the cost of building the superhighway raththan the 90 percent authorized By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D. by Congress. Birthdays are very important to

This newest compromise differs fundamentally from the earlier more drastic proposals in that it would reward "good" states rather than spank with reduction in funds the "bad" states where billboard lobbyists have been successful.

One Congressman, Robert Hale of Maine, went so far as to suggest denial of all federal highway funds to any state failing to forbid advertising within 500 feet of each side of the road. The Administration bill would have penalized states not meeting federal standards by allowing them only 85 percent.

Of course, always understood is that certain road direction sgins would be allowed but even these would avoid blocking the natural beauty of the area.

Well, the anticipated revenue from these sources for the coming year is: Gasoline tax, $54,000; automobile tax, $41,500; parking meters, $62,000. Total $157,500. It will take more revenue than these three sources alone can provide to cover anticipated expenditures for the street and alley and traffic departments for the next fiscal year, according to the recently approved city budget.

Let's take a look at the anticipated expenditures: Street and Alley department: Salaries, $75,740; materials and supplies, $25,000; Repairs to equipment, $5,000; Tires, $1,500; Gasoline, street holes.

There would be more money to patch holes like the ones on Grand Avenue and other streets which are breaking up more rapidly after each winter season of freeze and thaw. The "Big E," sometimes called the "fightingest ship the Navy had in any war," bears the scars of 21 Pacific naval battles. Though it was a powerhouse in its day the vessel has long since outlived its military usefulness.

Right now the Enterprise rests at a berth in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Those Americans who want to keep the valiant ship in being, who want to prevent it from having to take that last journey to the scrap heap, can send contributions to Fleet Adm. William F. Halsey (Ret.) at 208 E. 46th St., New York. The Enterprise was Halsey's flagship at the time of Pearl

Dr. Jordan Says Most Cases of Ulcerative

Ulcerative colitis is a disease in which there is an inflamed and ulcerous condition of the large colon, or bowel. It can affect parts of the colon or almost all of it. (This section of the intestine is about five feet long.) There are

When acute, all the signs of a severe infection are present. The cause of ulcerative colitis, however, is still uncertain. A good many different kinds of germs have been found, but so far no one of them seems to be entirely responsible. Other possible causes have been considered, including allergy, disturbed nervous control and deficiencies of nutrition. Ulcerative colitis occurs everywhere. However, it does seem to be less common in warmer parts of the United States. The disease is just about as common in men as in women. Most cases begin before the age of 40. The usual first symptom is the appearance of bloody mucus on the outside of the stool. Sometimes it starts with severe diarrhea, often accompanied by bleeding. Pain in the abdomen is common, though it may not be severe.

A GROUP OF Sedalia women were on a trip and stopped to visit the capitol building at Indianapolis. When they returned to their car they found it was hemmed in close and the driver was struggling to get it away from the curb. About that time the man parked back of them came to his car, seeing she was having trouble came up to her and asked if he might assist. The driver assured him it would be very helpful, so he took the wheel and quickly and neatly parked it back at the curb. "That's just fine," she told him,

'Except we want to pull out." They all laughed and the man, still at the wheel, obligingly got them out of the close spot, turned the wheel back to the driver and they went happily on their way.

MPS CHANGING ITS BILL PAYING TIME

BE RECEIVED! TIME WHEN BILL WILL

Missouri Public Service Company is taking final steps toward complete "cycle" billing for its nearly 100,000 customers using electric, gas and water service throughout its territory.

"Cycle" billing means simply that the customer's meter will be read on one day, consumption for the month sent to the Company's central I.B.M. punched card billing department the following day, customer's bills prepared and returned to the customer's bill paying office four days later, and within three days thereafter mailed to the cus-

Such a "cycle" meter reading and billing procedure will assure all of the Company's customers that they will receive their bills exactly the same number of days after their meter is read each month as every other customer in the Company's entire property. As a result of this step, the payment date for many customers will be changed slightly effective with June bills.

This final move will enable the Company to most economically utilize its meter reading manpower and its modern I.B.M. punched card billing equipment, and will be another step toward keeping expenses at a minimum; thereby furnishing utility service to its customers at the lowest possible cost. Missouri Public Service Company is the only major utility company in Missouri that has not increased rates to its electric customers in recent

The complete "cycle" billing procedure will result in only a slight change from present bill paying dates, since the Company has been moving in the direction of "cycle" billing over the past several years. Generally, the change from present payment dates will range from two days earlier to four days later. There are no changes in rates for Another change which will be reflected on the June bills will be to show the beginning date of the payment period rather than the ending date of the payment period as presently shown. This change has no effect upon the period of time customers have to pay their bills.

Bride, Groom

By CHARLES MERCER NEW YORK (P) - Bride and Groom is coming back. After an absence of three years from the home screen, the marriage ceremoney will receive a video treatment every Monday through Friday beginning July 1 over NBC-TV.

Singer Frank Parker and actor Robert Paige will serve as cohosts of the program on which 2,340 couples were married during five years of radio and four years of television.

John Reddy, producer of the show throughout its long life, says Bride and Groom has but one object. "We try to give the ordinary American girl a chance to have a big wedding on television, just like Grace Kelly and Queen Elizabeth.'

The idea is simple enough: a girl marries a guy before the TV audience and they are showered with all kinds of loot - refrigerators, toasters, swimming pools, a trip here or there. The only thing they forfeit is their freedom. The hearts, flowers and booty implicit in the program made it a housewives' delight. There are all kinds of statistics available on Singer Gets

Beans 'n Franks Fine for the Fourth

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

If you're picnicking at home on Independence Day you may want to serve some traditional American

How about a big casserole of baked beans topped with onion rings and franks? Or crumb gingerbread with lemon sauce? This gingerbread is offered at a well-known chain of restaurants that specializes in American dishes. You can try our version of it; or if you are short on time, you can bake gingerbread from a mix and serve it with vanilla ice cream and fudge

CRUMB GINGERBREAD Ingredients: 21/4 cups sifted flour

34 cup sugar, 34 teaspoon nutmeg, 11/2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup butter or margerine, 1 cup old-fashioned molasses, 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon baking soda, Lemon Sauce, whipped cream cheese.

Method: Sift together flour, sugar, nutmeg, cinnamon and salt. Add butter; cut in with two knives or pastry blender to resemble coarse meal. Mix molasses, water and baking soda. Alternate crumbs and liquid in a greased 8 by 8 by 2-inch square pan, beginning and ending with crumbs. Stir gently only 2 or 3 times with a fork. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour. Cut cake into squares in pan; remove and top each square with Lemon Sauce and whipped cream cheese. Makes nine

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor Stars and stripes sandwiches are fun to serve on July 4th. Along with a big pitcher of lemonade, a salad and dessert, they'll make a good lunch or supper snack. And you can prepare this menu ahead.

These sandwiches look mighty pretty with their creamy base of hard-cooked egg mixed with mayonnaise and seasonings, their "stripes" of boiled or baked ham and "stars" of green pepper. If you want to serve these open sandwiches with a fork, as we do, you can compensate by using attractive disposable paper plates. Use a tiny star cutter for the green pepper garnish. Our miniature cutter of this sort came along with eleven other small cutters-of different shapes-in a round tin box. We found our set in the housewares section of 'a large department store, but these sets are also available in some gift shops. We sometimes use the tiny shapes for cutting out pimiento garnishes. Dalton Makes Plea To Curb Use of Writ At Attorneys' Meeting

BRAINERD, Minn. (A)—A plea to attorneys general of 12 Midwest states to join in the fight to curb "abuse of the writ of habeas corpus" was made Tuesday by John M. Dalton, Missouri attorney general and vice president of the National Assn. of Attorneys Gen-

Dalton in a talk prepared for delivery at the Midwestern Regional Conference of Attorneys General, said that the number of petitions for habeas corpus in federal courts have jumped from 127 in 1941 to 734 in 1956.

"We think it delays the execution of justice, which is bad for everybody concerned," Dalton said. He urged conference members to support a bill now pending in the Senate to curb abuse of habeas corpus writs.

"Sureness of conviction and sentence is a deterrent to crime," Dalton said.

"We are thoroughly in favor of the writ," Dalton said. "It has played an important part in our country in Anglo-Saxon history. But it now is being used by some lawyers to delay the executi just sentences."

Control Predators Of Poultry

poultry raisers and it's time to do something about controlling foxes and other predators that roam over the farm. Pullet losses on range have increased in recent years. Most poultrymen will admit that they sacrifice a few pullets every year to predators. Generally they are unaware of the loss until pullet housing time when an accurate count is made. The fact that you may have lost a few pullets to predators in the past is not a good reason for going out of business or for using an old range near the house as a substitute. There are several things that can be done to protect your pullets from these crafty ani-

Springtime is range time for

One of the important things is to be able to recognize the specific predator that is causing the damage. You can usually do this by observing the way it kills and onsumes its prey. An owl, for example, will kill one or two birds on each visit. They will attack the head and neck, skin the neck to the shoulders and eat much of the flesh on the back of neck and

Stray dogs will generally kill many pullets by biting them in the back for the sport of it. A dog will eat most of one to two

Foxes prefer to attack early in the morning. They generally tear the feathers off and eat the vital organs and leave the breast bones, head and feet.

Raccoons also cause trouble to poultrymen. They usually attack in the late evening before dark or at night. They may continue return visits until an entire flock has been destroyed.

If you can recognize these characteristic habits of the various animals, you are in a better position to adapt the best control measure. For example, if you suspect Mr. Fox, you might be able to solve your problem in a short time by getting up early some morning and greeting him with a shotgun as he makes his way to the range shelter for his early morning breakfast. Owls, on the other hand, are probably more easily caught by setting steel traps on top of a high platform near

The Missouri Conservation Commission heartily recommends trapping as the cheapest and most effective method of controlling predators, especially foxes. They have worked out some simple get the job done. You can receive raining on how to trap by calling on the county agent. He will arrange for a community meeting with the Conservation Commission extension trapper, who will discuss techniques of trapping and give an actual trapping demonstration. Farmers receiving this training were able to reduce their losses by 81 per cent. Considering the damage one fox may do to pullets on range, the time and effort spent in trapping the outlaw would be worth it.

There are other methods of controlling predators, including use of electric fences, high woven wire fences, and night flares. Some producers keep their family dog on a leash near the range selters to discourage any unwelcome

Entomologists Present Bagworm Control Methods

Entomologists at the University Suneshine Quality the bagworm on evergreens. This Tullis-Hall . . . Fresh 'N Delicious native red cedars in the woods. Too often, its work is not noticed until it has practically ruined the

Besides evergreens, the bagworm also attacks boxelder, willow, maple, fruit trees, and other shade and ornamental trees and shrubs. The bagworm spends the winter in the egg stage, securely protected inside a large bag or cocoon attached to a twig on which the caterpillar fed the previous summer. The eggs begin to hatch and the small caterpillars escape from the bag about the first week in May. The caterpillar then feeds on foliage from mid-May until the first of August. That means these caterpillars are just getting started about now. For control, spraying should be done as soon as the worms are first noticed. This may be from now till mid-June. There are two different spray mixtures that you can use. Spray with toxaphene using two tablespoons of 65 per cent emulsifiable. concentrate in one gallon of water. For larger amounts, use two quarts of 65 per cent toxaphene emulsifiable concentrate in 100 gallons of water.

Still another spray can be made from one tablespoon of 55 per cent malathion emulsifiable concentrate in one gallon of water.

Prepare a cooked salad dressing in a heavy saucepan over low heat or in a double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. If you use high heat the milk in the dressing may be curdled by the vinegar and the egg yolk in it may get lumpy.

Those warm weather sandwiches may appear different ways: small or large, trimmed or with crusts, closed or open-face.
